People are using a lot of online language translation apps. Do you think the advantages of this trend outweigh the disadvantages?

In modern social, digital translators contribute a crucial way to everyone on serving work, study. From my viewpoint, I believe that this trend exist both of advantegous and drawback. This essay will examine to this argument.

To commence, it is an useful assistant for anyone, break the language barrier. They use smartphone, ipad for connecting to translating applications in everywhere, anytime. In fact, online dictionary take precedence in use over traditional translating book, due to it can return result fastly, some seconds, even completing the basical communication sentence or grammar which based on English platform. Bessides, a person can research many infomation about foreign newspaper, and translate its, without rely on traditional method before. Another reason reinforcing to this advantage of trend is that these application help public general when they go to other nations. Visitors can travel to foreign countries and hardly to seek the translator and support them during the trip. A lot of application installed will be benefit way in this time.

It is undeniable that digital translating app bring many benefit about public general, however, there are a drawback which should discussed. Individual depend more on digital device, without the ability to self-develop translate foreign language. This can be seen in schools, where banning phone with students, so their translate language become difficult, as a result: their foreign language ability reach the weaker than that of other subject. In addition, during the translating, one word can own many different meaning and unknown what's the usage in context. All of argument lead to consequence: excessive prioritize about online translating will reduce the ability in almost skill as well as the increasing the disadvantages about individuals.

In conclusion, translating tool is useful method, support everyone in many activity which related to language. I believe that it only used as a reference source, accompany with fundamental skills of learners to enhance an ability to self-translating and become proficient in foreign language naturally.
